

1. The first group of respondents (Group 1) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

2. The second group of respondents (Group 2) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

3. The third group of respondents (Group 3) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

4. The fourth group of respondents (Group 4) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

5. The fifth group of respondents (Group 5) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

6. The sixth group of respondents (Group 6) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

7. The seventh group of respondents (Group 7) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

8. The eighth group of respondents (Group 8) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

9. The ninth group of respondents (Group 9) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

10. The tenth group of respondents (Group 10) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to establish the baseline for the study.

Chuc D. Tran

2821

[illegible]

INTERFERENCE SEARCHED
Class	Subclass	Date	Examiner
315	200A	4/14/2005	TC
340	332	4/14/2005	TC

SEARCH NOTES (INCLUDING SEARCH STRATEGY)
	DATE	EXMR

TC